Global Travel Security

Traveling abroad for executives, employees, and their families has increased in risk due to kidnapping for ransom that has become so popular in many countries. Utilizing our resources and contacts globally, the team at Traveling Aware can provide an overview of the country and the associated risks.

Additionally, we can provide an Executive Protection detail in the country led by one of our agents. This added layer of protection and intelligence allows your staff to conduct business or relax during their vacation safely and securely.

Travel Safe Training

No one wants to be a victim. Traveling Aware is a training program designed to guide participants through the key stages of travel. We cover what to pack, proper security protocol, how to spot and avoid scams, and even what you can do if an abduction situation should arise. Simply put, we bring awareness to any type of travel.

Executive Protection

Traveling Aware is the liaison between you and Human Resources. We guide and advise executive and staff on appropriate protocol. Additionally, the Team at Traveling Aware has a VAST global intelligence network to draw upon for support and intelligence sharing while overseas.

Our principals have conducted Executive Protection details for heads of state, diplomats, and high-level executives. Our detail planning is extensive and designed with everything necessary to keep your principals safe.

"Thank you for everything. It was like secret service detail!"

- Dignitary, Israel

Introducing Corporate Espionage Counter Measures

Because your IP shouldn't be in jeopardy when you jet-set...

From start to finish, we have you covered. The team at Traveling Aware conducts advanced meeting location surveys to ensure no listening devices or "bugs" have been planted. Additionally, while the meeting is in process we provide a layer of meeting security for the meeting site, as well as, the meeting principals. We meet any incoming CEO, CFO, COOs or staff at the airport and safely transport them to the meeting location. Lastly, we employ electronic counter measures while the meeting is in process to maintain a high level of meeting privacy. The TA team can provide an added layer of security for corporate executives and their families, should the need arise. Armed or un-armed agents can be dispatched to your place of business, residence and even travel locations to keep your people safe in the event of a threat or just for peace of mind.

Stuff Happens.

Don't be a statistic.

During your travels, the odds of encountering a kidnapper are slim. The odds of falling victim to a young street criminal are much more staggering though.

What would you do if:

You were being watched?

A natural disaster strikes?

Something is slipped in your drink?

You are pickpocketed?

Travel Aware: Better Safe than Sorry

We love to travel. And while it's great to go somewhere new, no one place is the same. Sometimes, often times, we forget to pack our common sense. And that can be detrimental.

The goal of the Traveling Aware Course is to equip you with strategies and techniques to ensure safe travel. This means more memories and less mischief on your next adventure.

Travel is much more than just booking a ticket. It requires planning. Before you go, AND while you are gone.
